Adult day services (Also known as adult day care) have achieved new popularity with the advent of home and community long-term care Medicare and Medicaid waiver programs which support alternatives to institutional long term care and rehabilitation. Adult day services provide respite to family caregivers as well as provide therapeutic care for cognitive and physically impaired older adults. The sites listed below representative of hundreds of sites available on the Internet, however statistical information on the number and characteristics of adult day service programs and numbers of individuals served is still extremely limited.
